GOWDY TREATS SOLDIERS TO LEMONADE AND SANDWICHES

Third Battalion, Fourth Infantry, in Camp Here, Stopped at His Farm

Band Gives Concert — Notes of the Camp — The Officers Praise Mr. Gowdy

Hot and dusty and wringing wet with perspiration, the men of Companies I, K, L and M, comprising the Third Battalion of the Fourth United States Regular Infantry in command of Major John F. O. Tillson, enroute back to Ft. Thomas, Ky., from Ft. Benjamin Harrison, reached this city at 12:30 today and went into camp on the vacant ground west of the L. E. & W. depot. They will remain here until 6:30 Tuesday morning, when they will march through the city and leave for Andersonville.

At 6:30 this morning the command broke camp at Morristown and marched to the farm of John K. Gowdy, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Newkirk, six miles west of this city, halting at Gwynneville and at Beaver Meadow school house. A halt of one hour was made at the Gowdy farm.

Anticipating the weariness, thirst and hunger of the soldiers, Captain Gowdy had provided for their welfare during their stay at his place.

He had caused to be made six hundred ham sandwiches, four tubs full of lemonade, and a big pot of coffee, provided several boxes of cigars and big sacks of apples. A number of ladies in the neighborhood, including Mrs. William Gowdy, Mrs. Louis Gowdy, Mrs. James Posey and daughter, the Misses Lawrence, Miss McGee, Miss Anna Shepherd, Mrs. Louis Bagley, Miss Lena Havens, Mrs. Gallimore and Mrs. Oral Adams, were present to assist Mrs. Newkirk and Oliver Stiffler, the well known chef, in dispensing the food to the soldiers.

Mrs. Newkirk had decorated the trees on the lawn and the front of the house in flags and bunting. In the center of the veranda, was the word "Welcome," which made the soldiers' hearts glad.

A big tank of water had been provided for the horses and mules.

At 9:30 I. company, the advance guard, in command of Lieut. Ball, arrived at the house, stacked arms at the side of the road and dropped into the shade in front of the house. Each man was given a tin cup full of ice water.

Ten minutes later the main column, headed by Major Tillson, Captain Switzer, Captain Jarvis, Chaplain Hunter and other officers came up. Capt. Gowdy removed his hat and greeted Major Tillson cordially. The officers watered their horses and dismounted, their mounts being led away to the barn lot. Capt. Gowdy ushered them to the lawn and introduced them to the ladies. The various companies in command halted at the side of the road, stacked arms and marched to the lawn. Each man was provided with sandwiches, lemonade and apples, and cigars were distributed among the officers in addition to the other refreshments.

Frank Wallace, photographer, took several views of the scene, the officers and Captain Gowdy and Major Tillson. The regimental band of twenty pieces, was brought up on the lawn in front of the house, and treated Mr. Gowdy and those present to a serenade.

"The way the soldiers went after the lemonade and sandwiches was a caution. 'I'm afraid,' said Major Tillson to Mr. Gowdy, 'that you will think that I have an enormous command from the rate that these things are disappearing.' Capt. Gowdy only smiled and repeated his invitation for the men to 'pitch in.'

"Say fellows," said one soldier in the line, biting into a sandwich and jerking his thumb over his shoulder in the direction of Capt. Gowdy, "he's a prince, ain't he? This certainly looks good to me and it tastes good, too. I wouldn't mind staying with him all day."

Several of the officers with their re-

dogs were seated about the house. The officers were feeding the dogs, and seeing to it that they got their share. "Even the dogs will be glad to come back here," said Chaplain Hunter as he swallowed a cupful of lemonade.

"I don't know what Capt. Gowdy's politics are," said Captain Switzer, "I'm a Democrat, but if he's a candidate for anything I will vote for him and I'm sure all the men in the command will do the same. Mr. Gowdy is the best man in Indiana."

Among the numbers rendered by the band were the march, "Veni, Vidi, Vici," the march, "Wireless Dispatch," and the march, "The Flying Squadron." At the close of each number the band was heartily applauded, Capt. Gowdy, leading. Finally the band struck up, "Marching Through Georgia." Captain Gowdy jumped to his feet, doffed his hat and exclaimed "Good." At the close of the piece he drowned out everyone else with his hand clapping. The band then played the "Star Spangled Banner," during the rendition of which each soldier stood at salute and each officer stood with uncovered head.

Captain Gowdy and Major Tillson sat for sometime in conversation. Finally the Major ordered the command to "fall in" and the officers surrounded Mr. Gowdy and thanked him heartily for his generosity. "I thank you very much for your kindness to us, Mr. Gowdy," said Major Tillson. "We appreciate it deeply."

"Major, I love a soldier," was Capt. Gowdy's reply and his eyes moistened and his voice trembled.

As the troops marched away, Captain Gowdy stood in the road, bid the men good-bye and called to Major Tillson, "Major, remember if you ever pass through here again, you are to camp here over night. You can establish your headquarters on the front lawn." Major Tillson gave his promise to stop with Mr. Gowdy over night.

At 4 o'clock this afternoon Major Tillson and Capt. Gowdy made a formal call upon Congressman Watson. Major Tillson was driven about the city in Mr. Gowdy's coupe.

The march to this city has been an uneventful one, save that there were three calls for the ambulance Sunday and that it was twice filled today. Owing to the fact that the weather is not as warm as in July, the men are standing the trip better. However, the new gravel on the roads gives them trouble and will make many of them footsore before the march is over. The men are all anxious to get back to Ft. Thomas for target practice.

Two mules escaped from the camp at Morristown last night and "struck out" for Ft. Thomas. The progress was entirely too slow for them. They were overtaken by a soldier, however, and returned to their harness.

Private James Moore, of I company, who was stricken with appendicitis and operated upon at Ft. Harrison, died Saturday. His body was shipped to Springfield, Ill.

"Our stay at Ft. Harrison has been a pleasant and profitable one," said Major Tillson. "The men, however, are glad to be on their way to Ft. Thomas. The men are young and they like adventure. They want a change. If trouble should break out in Cuba now every man would want a transfer to the regiment that would be sent there."

Major Tillson has two horses, one "Mollie," and another called "Jack." He has had both for a number of years. They are very intelligent and seem to understand everything he says. "Mollie" seems to feel that she is better than the other horses of the command and she occasionally kicks when any of them approach her.

"Bob," the Major's brown pointer, was left at Ft. Harrison by accident, and his absence was not discovered until the command was well upon its march. A soldier was sent back after him and he was placed on one of the wagons.

"Snowball," alias "Rastus," Major Tillson's negro "fuky," who marched all the way from Ft. Thomas to Ft. Harrison, deserted the command at the latter place together with $3 of an officer's money. He was sent to Indianapolis for some laundry, but failed to return.

The officer of the command regard the camps of instruction at Ft. Harrison as being very satisfactory to both regulars and militia.

Captain Jarvis, one of the officers of the command owns a Chinese Chow dog, brought to this country by the captain after his service in the march on Pekin. "Whiskers," as he is called, was sent over on a Canadian liner. His tongue and the interior of his mouth is jet black in color. "Whiskers" is far from sociable, although he has become thoroughly Americanized.

Chaplain Hunter, assisted by the band, conducted services at the camp in Morristown Sunday afternoon. In the evening he preached to a large congregation at the Christian church in Gwynneville.

The regimental band is playing for the soldiers on the march and making their loads easier to bear, by reason of its stirring music. The band will give a concert at the camp between 5 and 6 this evening. Guard mount will be held at 5 and retreat at 6.

OFFICER AND SALOON MAN

Come to Blows and Saloon Keeper Arrested — Saturday Night's Excitement

James Barrett Charged With Assaulting Chief of Police Price

As the result of trouble between Chief of Police William Price and James Barrett, proprietor of the Exchange Bar, on West Second street, about 8 o'clock Saturday night, the latter was in court this morning on the charge of assaulting an officer. The trouble between the two seems to have started through a misunderstanding and the prevailing opinion is that the officer was doing his duty at the time and was justified in taking Barrett to jail.

The stories of the affair given by the participants and the bystanders differ materially and there has been considerable discussion over the incident since Saturday night.

Policeman Price says that Barrett's alleged attack was unwarranted and Barrett makes the same charge against the officer.

"I was walking down the street," said Officer Price, "and as I passed the saloon, noticed a woman standing at the entrance to the side door. She was looking into the saloon as if searching for some one. I did not recognize her and thought that it was some lady looking for her husband, who, perhaps, was inside spending money that he ought not to. I stepped up to her and asked her if she was looking for some one. She replied that she was looking for her husband, Mr. Barrett. I saw then that it was Mrs. Barrett and I excused myself and walked on down the street. When I came back Barrett was standing in front of the saloon talking to his wife. I took no particular notice of them and walked on. I had passed the saloon when I heard some one call. I turned round and Barrett came up to me, demanding to know what I had said to his wife. What right I had to ask her who she was looking for and what right had I to be interfering with his business. I replied that I was an officer, that I had the right to ask the lady who she was looking for, that I was not interfering with his business and would not interfere with it as long as he ran the place according to law. I added that I had the right to go into his saloon if I wanted to after anyone that I chose, and as an officer that I would not take any more such talk from him. I told him that I meant business and would not fool with him a minute. He was cursing me and started to hit me but before he could do so I knocked him down with my fist. I did not use my mace or sling shot at all. I then jumped on to him before he could regain his feet. He kept fighting me and I started to jail with him. His brother, Eddie, came running up, but acted the gentleman all the way to the jail. On the way to the jail Barrett showed fight twice, but I gave him to understand that I could not fool with him. Several of Barrett's friends were following in the crowd and I looked for them to make an effort to take him away from me and I was determined that they should not take him. I was forced to keep the crowd back on the way to the jail. When we reached the side door of the jail, Barrett's father, Pat Barrett, came running up and wedged in between us. He shouted something about his son not having to go to jail and I thought that he was going to try to take Barrett from me. I pushed Pat down the steps twice and when he came up a third time, I wrapped my arm around Jim's neck and dragged him inside the jail, at the same time reaching around the prisoner and knocking Pat down the steps. When we were once inside, I allowed Jim to go, informing him that I would file charges against him Monday morning for assaulting an officer."

"My wife was standing in the hall," said Mr. Barrett in giving his version of the trouble, "and had gone back into the saloon to get some change for her and the children.

When I came out she told me that Mr. Price came up to her and asked her what she was doing there. She replied 'I have a right here. I'm Mrs. Barrett.' I went to Mr. Price and told him that he had no right to ask my wife what business she had there.

He replied 'I'm not interfering with your business.' I said 'you did when you came there and asked my wife what she was doing there.' He said 'you little— you're a ——— liar.' I turned back toward the saloon and said 'you're worse.' Then he hit me, knocked me down and dragged me across the street. When he had me down beating me, my wife ran up and tried to push him off of me. He knocked her back with his arm. He had his sling shot in his hand at the time. My wife is down with nervous prostration as a result of the excitement. Price took me to jail. I was badly stunned and did not come to myself until we reached August Roth's saloon. He was then striking at the kids and men who were following and was trying to keep them away. When we reached the jail I asked him what charges he had arrested me upon, and he studied a minute and said, 'assaulting an officer.' At the side door of the jail my father, Pat Barrett, came up and said 'You don't have to go to jail Jim, I'll go your bond.' My father was standing on the lower steps at the door and Price pushed me toward the door, reached over my shoulder and struck my father with his sling shot, knocking him down. Then he unlocked the door and pushed me inside and later released me."

The stories told by the bystanders who saw the fight in front of the saloon differ, but the majority of them are much the same as told by the officer. Several bystanders deny that Marshal Price struck Mrs. Barrett with his arm and stated that he merely pushed her away. They state that the marshal tore Barrett's shirt nearly off his back during the melee. A crowd of nearly two hundred people followed the officer and his prisoner to jail and the stories of those who saw the Marshall strike Pat Barrett at the jail, coincide in the statement that Barrett ran in between the marshal and his prisoner and attempted to pull his son away from the officer, at the same time exclaiming "I'll go your bail! I'll go your bail! You don't have to go to jail!" Disinterested parties say that the marshal pushed the elder Barrett away twice before he struck him.

Marshal Price filed affidavits against both of the Barretts, charging James Barrett with assaulting an officer and Patrick Barrett with trying to prevent an arrest. Both men were arraigned in Mayor Cowing's court at 8:30 this morning and entered pleas of not guilty. The cases will be heard Friday, beginning at 9 a. m.

Marshal Price said this morning that one reason that his attention was directed to the woman standing at the door of the saloon was because he had understood that for several nights women had been harbored in a room above the saloon, and that they had been drinking beer there and carousing with men all night. He had never been able to catch any one upstairs. He says that he did not know who Mrs. Barrett was and mistook her for some woman who was expecting or searching for some one inside.

Marshal Price, as sheriff of the county, saw service enough to learn an officer's duty and the proper way in which to conduct himself, and he thinks that he was doing his duty when he spoke to Mrs. Barrett.

This morning the affidavits asserted that they would file affidavits against the marshal, but when offered the opportunity by Deputy Prosecutor Kipfinger, they refused. It is said that they intend to file a damage suit against the marshal.

PROMINENT FARMER EXPIRES SUDDENLY

Rufus Bowen of Near Orange, Dies While Preparing to Retire

Rufus Bowen, a well known farmer living two miles southwest of Orange, suddenly expired Saturday night, about 10:30, while preparing to retire for the night. Mr. Bowen, with his wife, had been to this city and had returned home at about 10 o'clock. Mrs. Bowen had retired and her husband was in the dining room preparing to retire. Mrs. Bowen heard him gasping and ran to him, at the same time calling her son Olen Bowen, upstairs. When Mrs. Bowen reached her husband he gave two gasps and died. Coroner Coleman was called early Sunday morning. After taking the testimony and viewing the body, he pronounced death due to heart disease. Mr. Bowen had been afflicted with heart trouble for some time. He was 72 years of age. The funeral service was held today.

LOCAL BREVITIES

Rev. T. H. Kuhn, Democratic candidate for congress in the Sixth district, delivered his address on "The Building of Character," at the Christian church in Carthage Sunday night. It is reported that the minister-politician did not touch upon politics, but while spending the Sunday in Carthage he met some of the Democratic leaders of Ripley township. The lecture was arranged for by Mr. Van Hood a few days previously during the Connersville fair, and announcement of it was not made until Sunday morning. While at Carthage the Rev. Kuhn was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Van Hood.

The Republicans of Franklin County nominated the following ticket Saturday: For auditor, Jethro Hamilton; for treasurer, George W. Jenks; for clerk, Ben Winans; for sheriff, Albert Ferris; for coroner, Wilbur C. McCammon; for assessor, Elias Price; for surveyor, D. Alley; county commissioners, Richard Barbour, Harvey S. Jaques and Lon Masters; county councilmen, J. J. Keibler, Samuel Kimman, Thomas Reinbold and John T. Miles; councilmen-at-large, Jacob Smith, J. B. Swift and Frank Harman.

Ollier P. Boyd, ex-trustee of Adams Township, Decatur County, who was removed from office some months ago after an investigation of his books, was arrested on a charge of forging the name of Mrs. Mollie Snider, a teacher in the same township to a receipt for $75. At the time of his removal from office his accounts were shown to be in a tangled condition, but the shortage was made good, and W. M. Robertson was appointed to succeed him. Further investigation revealed many peculiar transactions, one of which led to his arrest. Boyd will have a preliminary hearing some time this week.

Greensburg News: Prof. R. H. Kennedy was in town Saturday. On account of the illness of his wife, who is sick with typhoid fever at the home of her parents near Sardina, Prof. Kennedy will not go to Raleigh, where he is principal of the school for several weeks. His father, who lives at Irvington, is just recovering from an attack of fever.

EXCITEMENT ON MAIN ST.

Horse Driven by Ladies Causes Trouble Saturday Night

A horse, belonging to George T. Caldwell's livery barn, and driven to a carriage occupied by Mrs. Morris Winship and daughters, the Misses Cora and Nellie, of this city, and Mrs. Jessie Winship and little son, of St. Louis, became frightened on Main street about 9 o'clock Saturday night, and rushed upon the sidewalk in front of Kramer's meat market. It tried to kick itself from the carriage, but was caught and unhitched by Marshal Price and a number of men. A big crowd gathered but no one was hurt. The ladies leaped from the carriage in time to escape injury.

SCHOOL NOTES.

HIGH SCHOOL COURSE OF STUDY.

First Year—B Class, Latin, English, Algebra, Physical Geography; A Class, Latin, English, Algebra, Physical Geography.

Second Year—B Class, Caesar, English, Algebra, Ancient History; A Class, Caesar, English, Plane Geometry, Ancient History.

Third Year—B Class, Cicero, English, Plane Geometry, Mediaeval History; A Class, Cicero, English, Solid Geometry, Modern History.

Fourth Year—B Class, Vergil, English, Physics, American History; A Class, Vergil, English, Physics, American History.

German—Three years' work in German is offered, and this may take the place of Latin. However, but three classes at one time are offered in German. Either three years in Latin or three years in German is the amount of foreign languages required for graduation.

English History—This subject alternates with American History. In this way a student can take one subject one year and the other history subject the following year.

Botany—This subject is usually offered in the second year.

Commercial Geography—In the first half of the second year and for students further advanced this subject has been given.

Civil Government—James and Sanford's State and Nation, a very fine text has furnished the basis for very good work in this line. Sometimes special attention is given to this subject in connection with American History, especially when students have not already taken this subject.

The course as outlined above is a particularly strong course and has the approval of the State Board of Education. It will be seen that several subjects are pursued through three years and a few for four years. This is in accordance with the best thought of educators, believing that a thorough study of a few subjects is worth more than a smattering of many. The course as given first admits without any conditions to all the colleges of the State.

The subjects named after the course are called "Electives" and can be taken during one's four years course as but three years work in each of the following subjects is required for graduation—English, Mathematics, Latin, German.

We expect to do everything we can to save the parents money in the matter of buying text books for high school work. Pupils who lost books in the fire and will be required to use the same book again, will save money by getting their books of the Superintendent, as we have made arrangements with the publishers for a special price. Those who enter subjects for the first time will buy of the dealers. In all cases do not buy books for high school use until further notice.

Tomorrow we shall publish a list of books so that in case of a shortage there will be no delay.

Yours truly,
J. H. SCHOLL, Supt.

"UNCLE JOE" COMING.

Speaker of the House to Give Indianapolis Four Days of His Time.

Indianapolis, Ind., September 10.—It is possible that Joseph G. Cannon, speaker of the house of representatives, may open the campaign in Marion county. The speaker is to be in Indiana four days. He is under the direction of the congressional campaign committee, but the places at which he is to speak were selected by the state central committee. Elkhart, Terre Haute and Evansville were the towns selected, and Chairman Ruckelshaus of Marion county was told that he might have Mr. Cannon for a meeting here if he chose. Mr. Ruckelshaus was, of course, delighted at the prospect, and since it is probable that Mr. Cannon's speeches will be delivered in the near future a grand Republican campaign opening meeting is being considered, at which Mr. Cannon will be the principal attraction. The meeting will take place, unless a change in dates should be made necessary, some time before Sept. 22. Mr. Ruckelshaus has planned to open the campaign in the county with a monster meeting, but no speaker had been decided on, and it was his intention to hold the meeting somewhat late in order to make the active campaign short and snappy, but the opportunity of securing Mr. Cannon for the principal speaker outweighs the advantage of a later opening. The meeting will be held in Tomlinson Hall and will be a rousing one.

James Wilson, secretary of agriculture, has written letters to E. H. Barnard, chemist of the state board of health, and E. H. Bishop and Norris Thompson, assistants in the chemistry laboratory, asking for their opinions as experts on certain points with reference to the enforcement of the new national pure food law. "The food and drug law forbids the addition to foods of any ingredient which may render such articles injurious to health," reads the letter. "It also forbids specifically the addition of any poisonous or injurious color or flavor or any which may deceive or mislead the purchaser in any respect regarding its character. I desire to ask your advice on the following points: (1) Are preservatives, other than salt, sugar, alcohol, vinegar, spices and wood smoke injurious to health? (2) Does the introduction of any of the preservatives which you deem injurious to health, render the food injurious to health? (3) If a substance added to food is injurious to health, does it become so when a certain quantity is present only, or is it so in any quantity whatever? (4) If a substance is injurious to health, is there any safe limit which may be used which may be fixed by regulation or by law? (5) If foods can be perfectly preserved without the addition of chemical preservatives, is their addition ever advisable? (6) Are artificial colors advisable in foods, and, if so, what kinds, in what quantities and under what restrictions?" The letter ends with a request that the questions be answered, as Mr. Wilson is desirous of having the best possible advice from the best authorities in dealing with the problems which the pure food law will bring to him. The answers have not yet been formulated.

They Lowered the Record.
San Francisco, Sept. 10.—R. H. Little and C. D. Hagerty, who in company with three expert chauffeurs left New York Aug. 16 in an automobile seeking to reduce the transcontinental tourist car record of thirty-three days, arrived here last night. The trip occupied 24 days, 8 hours and 45 minutes, including all stops, thus lowering the record by nearly nine days.

FIELD OF POLITICS

There Is Much on the Program This Week to Engage Attention.

NEW YORK SITUATION

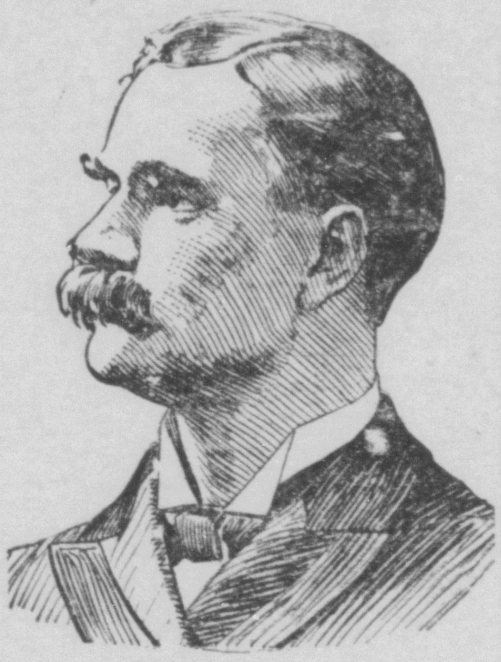

The Hearst Movement Will Find Its Culmination in Convention of Independence League.

Republican Campaign Book Offers Fine Food For Voters—the Maine Election.

Washington, Sept. 10.—The convention of the Independent League of New York state will be called to-morrow in New York City. The league may or may not nominate a full state ticket, sentiment being divided as to the wisdom of such a move. It is regarded as certain that William Randolph Hearst will be selected by the league to stand as its candidate for governor.

Still withholding any intimations as to his own attitude on the subject of a renomination, Governor Higgins of New York has, through his secretary, issued a statement in which he warns the Republicans of the state of the danger of "a return to the old system" of boss control. He declares that the party in that state "has an abundance of capable, loyal and honest men, any one of whom will, if nominated, carry the state by upwards of 100,000 plurality against frothy demonstrations of superior virtue and insincere promises of impossible reforms."

On the day of the Maine state election the political leaders of both parties feel that uncertainty exists to an unusual degree, and many surprises are looked for tonight when the ballots are counted. Two of Maine's most prominent Republicans stand out especially in the element of uncertainty—Governor William T.

CHARLES E. LITTLEFIELD.

Cobb and Congressman Charles E. Littlefield—both of whom seek a reelection. Governor Cobb has made his campaign on purely state issues, but the candidacy of Mr. Littlefield has been given wide prominence on account of the fact that he has been opposed by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor.

Republican leaders are quoted as admitting that largely because of the operation of the so-called Sturgis liquor law, the state ticket will probably not have a plurality exceeding 11,000, while for nearly a decade the Republican plurality has been in excess of 25,000.

Connecticut Democrats will meet at Hartford to nominate candidates for state offices on Tuesday. It is expected that Charles F. Thayer of Norwich will be named for governor. On the same day the California Democratic convention will meet at Sacramento.

Republican Campaign Book.

The Republican party, its achievements for half a century, and particularly its record in the present congress, is commended to the voters in the campaign text-book just given out by the republican congressional committee. The book is replete with Republican doctrine, embracing practically every conceivable subject upon which information may be desired. Radicalism or conservatism, it is declared, never are matters of concern to Republicans, but, it is stated, "they are content with practical and progressive ideas and the maturing of those ideas into positive performance." Every statement made and all figures presented are declared to be official or authoritative. The foreword concludes: "The truth is the highest exemplification of Republican doctrines and policies and party record the best plea that can be made for continuation in power."

Regarding the tariff, the book makes this statement: "Protectionists are content to let the present law stand without change or amendment so long as present conditions prevail."

Although the Republican state convention which convened at Dayton, O., to-day is held for the nomination of candidates for secretary of state and other state officers, the pre-convention interest centered on the equal indorsement of the president and the two senators and the contest of Senator Dick for re-election as chairman of the state committee. Notwithstanding the fact that he was defeated in his home county, Senator Dick expresses full confidence in his own success. However, Harry Daugherty and Congressman Burton express equal confidence in the success of the fight against the retention of Senator Dick. The indorsement of both President Roosevelt and of the Ohio senators, notwithstanding their differences over various matters of legislation at Washington, is being sought by many delegates, while others are equally insistent that the president be indorsed and that the senators be ignored or at most given a merely perfunctory resolution of commendation.

WILL MAKE IT GOOD.

Directors of Wrecked Bank Will Reorganize Company.

Philadelphia, Sept. 10.—All the directors of the Real Estate Trust company, wrecked by its suicide president, Frank K. Hipple, have agreed to Receiver Earle's plan of reorganization. Mr. Earle has received a telegram from Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, the only member of the board of directors who is away from the city, agreeing that the directors contribute the amount deemed necessary by the receiver. The other directors had previously assented.

Receiver Earle spent Sunday at his home working on the details of his proposition, which he hopes to present to the directors to-day. "I am not in a position at present," he said, "to say anything more definite than has already been published concerning my proposition, but I wish it understood that the directors have pledged themselves to raise the amount which I consider necessary. They are putting up the money from their own pockets to make up the losses which have been sustained through the bad Segal loans."

The loans made to Segal by President Hipple aggregate more than $5,000,000 and his securities are believed to be worth about $2,000,000. Consequently the directors will subscribe something more than $3,000,000. It was stated that some of the Segal securities which are considered of little value would be given the directors for the money advanced by them. Receiver Earle denied this.

A statement issued by the Rev. Dr. Roberts stated clerk of the Presbyterian general assembly, announces that in addition to the $30,000 of the church's trust funds lost in the collapse, deposits amounting to about $120,000 are also involved. These were the current funds of the board of ministerial relief, the trustees of the board of publication and Sabbath-school work, the trustees of the general assembly, the stated clerk of the general assembly and the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society.

GREAT SLAUGHTER.

Two Hundred Cuban Insurgents Reported Killed in Battle.

Havana, Sept. 10.—Reports received by the government say 200 insurrectionists were killed in the fight near Consolacion del Sur, but these figures are not considered authentic.

A fight is reported to have taken place at Guanajay, in Santa Clara province. There were fierce machete charges and the rebels retired. Several rebels were wounded and five were captured.

The government troop train which left Havana Friday jumped the track two and a third miles east of Consolacion del Sur. The train was surrounded by the several hundred insurgents, commanded by Pino Guerra in person, and sustained a fire all Saturday night. The train would have been captured but for the timely arrival of Col. Avalos and 400 men, who had fought their way through from Consolacion del Sur. When this force arrived the revolutionists retired, after having destroyed the bridge over the Santa Clara river and cutting telegraph wires. The revolutionists are camped to-day at Arroyo Cruz, west of Consolacion del Sur.

Guerrilla's force in that neighborhood numbers 2,000 men, and those of the government 800. The government forces had one man killed and six wounded.

A THOROUGHbred TRAMP
"The Tramp Terror Torredor"

Elmer Walters ever popular comedy drama, "A Thoroughbred Tramp" will be seen at the Opera House, Wednesday Sept. 12th. The piece deals with Colorado folks and is not lacking in action and, though the central figure is that of a vagabond is none the less interesting as the part has been so constructed so as to lend both comedy and pathos.
T. Rush Thompson, the tramp, prior to his downfall was a college graduate and successful Easterner who invades the Colorado atmosphere with a view of hunting down those responsible for his present position in life. In the play is depicted naturally the humorous sides of the vagabond as well as the pathetic—the play fairly bubbles over with rich fun and great care has been taken not to overdraw the dramatic situations. Considerable special scenery is carried by the company and it is said the Company is considerable above the average.

DUE TO FENCE RAILS.

Trouble Over These Led to Murder Near Bedford.

Bedford, Ind., Sept. 10.—Saturday evening at 6:30 o'clock near Fayetteville, Alva Callahan shot and killed John Walters, a neighbor and tenant on his farm. Callahan came to Bedford at once and surrendered to the authorities and is now in jail awaiting his preliminary hearing. Callahan is a prominent school teacher of Indian Creek township. He is thirty-four years old and has a wife and two children.

For the last two weeks trouble has been brewing between Callahan and Walters over the destruction of fence rails, which Callahan alleges Walters had been burning. The men had words Friday and Walters' sixteen-year-old son is said to have amused himself by driving up and down in front of Callahan's residence flourishing a revolver and threatening to shoot. Saturday afternoon Callahan armed himself with a revolver and taking his little baby girl in his arms walked to Walters' house for the purpose of repairing a cistern. As he entered Walters' gate the latter is said to have come out of the house with a knife in his hands and threatened to kill Callahan. Callahan fired three times at Walters, the shots taking effect. Walters lived but a few minutes.

Walters was forty years old and leaves a wife and seven children.

The killing has created a great deal of excitement in Indian Creek township, where both men were prominent.

Withstood a Fearful Blow.

Brookville, Ind., Sept. 10.—William D. Bradt, manager of the Thompson & Norris paper mills of this place, was thought to have been killed when a 700-pound water gauge fell and struck him on the shoulder while he was inspecting some work at the mills. However, he was found to have sustained only a severe bruise and a few other minor injuries.

RESOLVED!
THAT CLOTHES ARE THE MOST NECESSARY THINGS IN THE WORLD. IT IS THE ROYAL ROBE AND THE CROWN THAT MAKES THE KING. YOU KNOW YOU SIZE UP PEOPLE BY THEIR CLOTHES. FIRST, HOW ELSE COULD YOU SIZE THEM UP GOOD TOGS ARE THE SIGN OF PROSPERITY, TASTE, BREEDING, OR FAILURE.

BUSTER BROWN.

WHERE DID YOU GET THAT?

THE SIGN OF PROSPERITY

Copyright 1926, by the BUSTER BROWN CO., CHICAGO

If you don't believe good clothes are necessary try going without them for awhile. Try wearing better clothes than you ever have. Do you know the meaning of "nothing succeeds like success"? Lots of people don't. It means other people prefer successes to failures. If a man does not look successful people will think he is not successful. And if you want to dress successfully why not come to those who have made a success of dressing people. We can give you

A fairly good suit for $10.00
A better suit for $15.00
A swell suit for $20.00

Our new Hawes fall hats have come. We carry the Rex hat. One will give you good wear and if you get it from us you may know the style is right.
